“In the next five years, I can’t see us — and NASCAR — doing anything but moving forward. They are going to bring on some new tracks in new areas that are going to bring us some new fans. As long as we keep doing what we’re doing — all of it ain’t right, but most of it is working — if we just keep continuing and keep ourselves from getting too greedy, just keep trying to do a little at a time, I see us just getting better and better.”
